birthdays are great because you get awesome presents and get to share them with near and dear people who might or might not like you. but hey it's all about the cake anyway!
Another year has come and gone, but we have created so many memories during that time. Imagine how wonderful this year will be—what miracles it will bring.
Happy birthday June! There is so much in store for all of us, can you wait to see what the future brings? The possibilities are endless and eternal a ring of endless light.